Transform your property with a look that will last

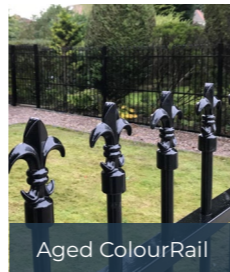

The low-maintenance alternative to traditional iron railings

ColourRail is the perfect addition to the front of your home, marking boundaries without obscuring your view or your light. Traditionally, wrought iron gates and railings were chosen to add security and improve the look of the front of the property.

The downside of wrought iron is that it can be expensive to fit and time consuming to maintain; its finish making it particularly vulnerable to rust and corrosion. Keeping wrought iron looking its best requires regular cleaning, stripping and painting, tasks made all the more difficult by the often intricate nature of the ironwork. ColourRail however, offers an affordable alternative with its range of contemporary and traditional styles combining elegance with low maintenance.
